-To Howard-
I have really enjoyed riding on your bus these past two years. I know I'll never forget you Howard.
You have given me
advice and helped me with lessons, and I have really appreciated that. I wish you
the very best

Pendleton High School
Pendleton, Indiana

Volume 45

1886-1961 -

The class of 1961 proudly presents the year of Diamond Jubilee.

Pausing in this age of astronauts, scientific discoveries, Presidential inaugurations, Civil War Centennials, and superhighways, we reflect the history of the Pendleton Metropolitan School System.

The first school was a two-room brick building located east of the train depot on State Street, then called Tariff Street. Built in the early 1830's, this school was the first in Madison County.

The class of 1886, the first graduates, received their diplomas at Pendleton Academy, more commonly known as West School, located on Taylor Street. As Pendleton grew from a small town to a thriving community, a new school building was constructed in 1895 on East Street. Today this building is used for grades five through seven.

In 1935, with the United States trying to recover from a depression and the population ever increasing, the PWA started construction on the building we now occupy. This building, which was completed December 4, 1936, had fourteen rooms serving as a home away from home for 294 students. The cafeteria and auditorium were added in 1950.

In 1961, with P.H.S. bursting at the seams, progress in education forges ahead in the Pendleton School System. We of the seventy-fifth graduating class are proud of our heritage, and we look forward with faith and confidence in the future of our school.

Then or Now —

Involved in the history of Pendleton High School are the lives of many people. In addition to the graduated members of the student body are the underclassmen, and the administrators and faculty members who have served the Pendleton community through the teaching profession.

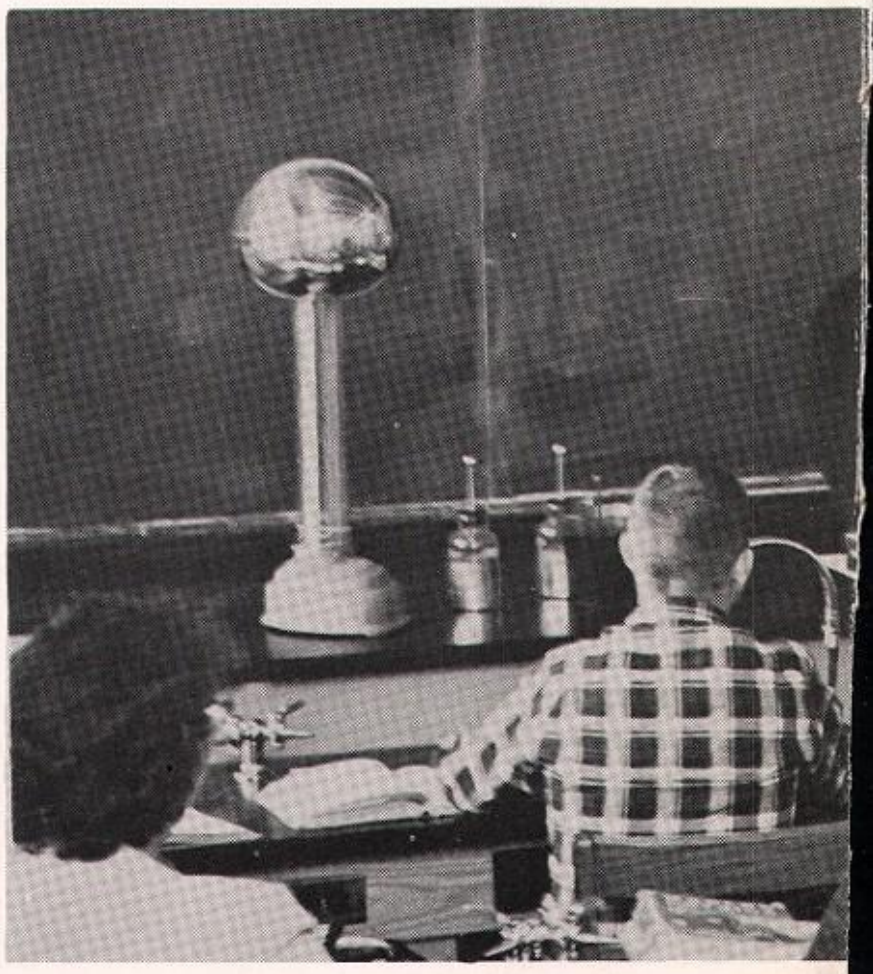
The graduation of five students in 1886 seems indeed a small beginning when we compare it with the 93 graduated Seniors in the 75th Commencement Anniversary Class.

People Are the Heart of the School

Yesterday or Today —

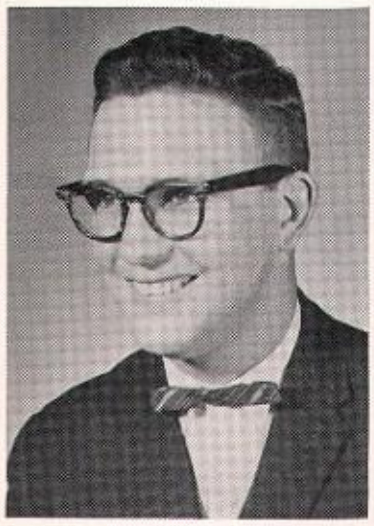
The P.H.S. students of the early 1900's took a rigid course. High school provided for four full years of nine months each. Most students took four years of English, three and one-half years of mathematics, three and one-half years of Latin, two years of French, two and one-half years of science, and three years of history and civics.

Since then, curriculum, facilities, and equipment have been modernized with the result that today all classes are planned especially for the future needs of each individual.

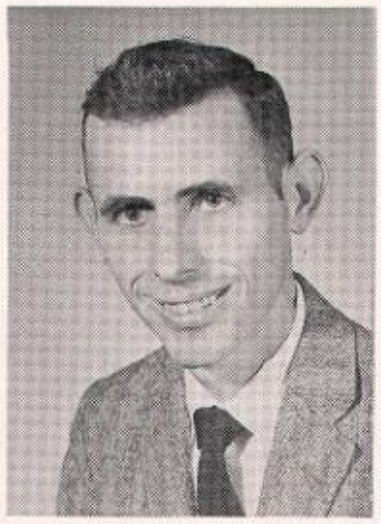


Improved Education Is the Constant Goal

Social Studies Promote a Better



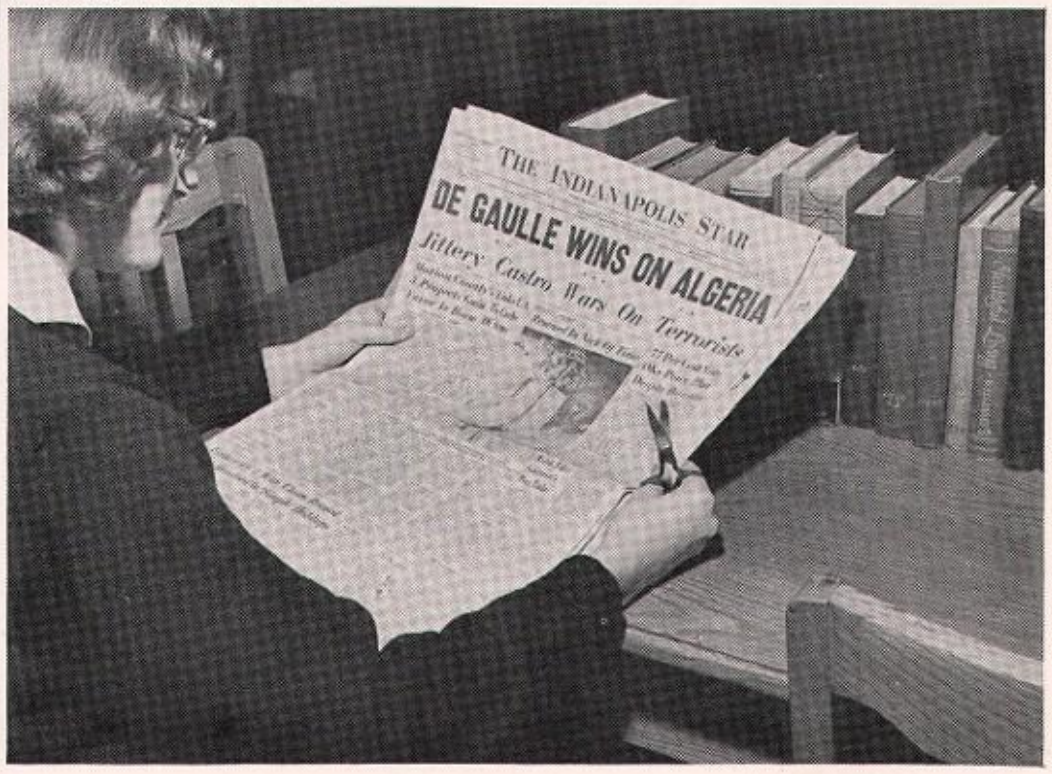
Mr. Ralph W. Bailey



Mr. William R. Hinshaw

Mr. Richard D. Hoover

Taking notes is a must in U. S. History class.

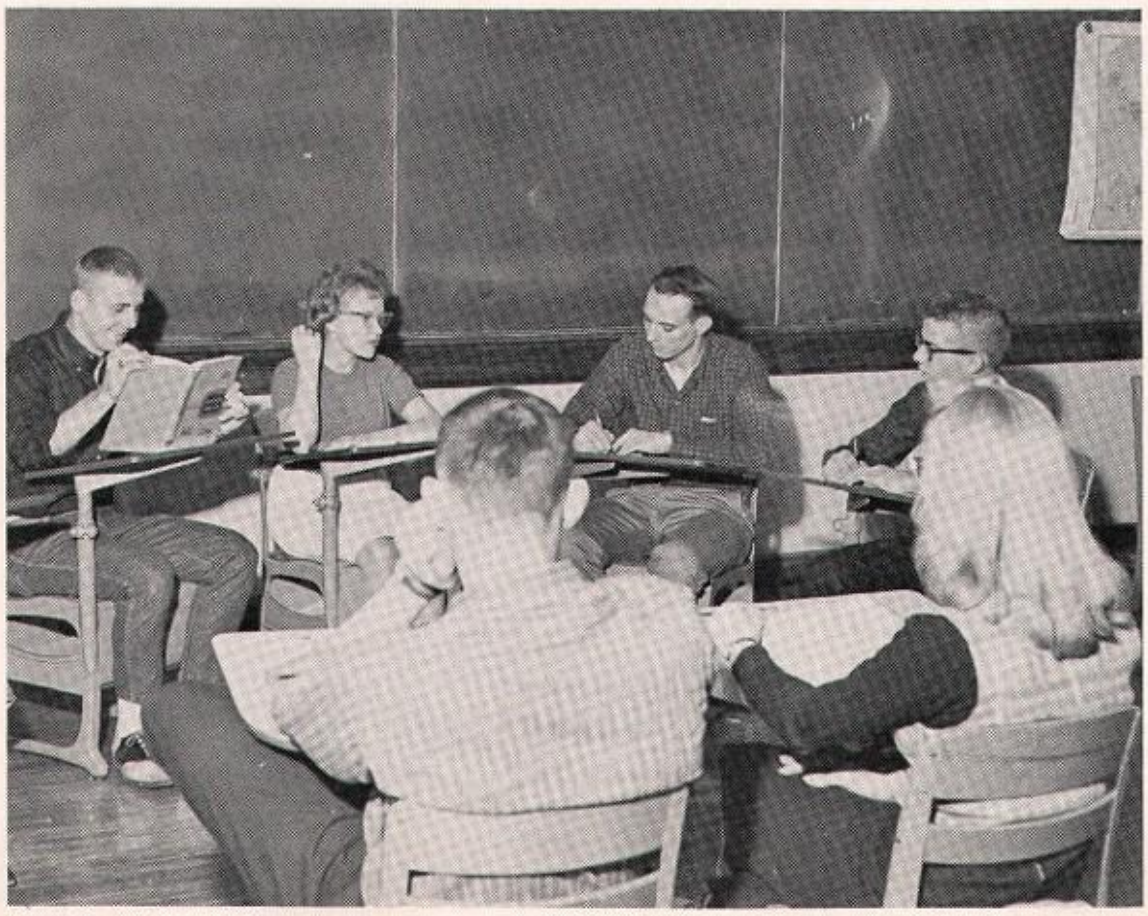


DeGaulle and Castro capture the attention of Denelee Meade as she prepares to cut out an article for current events in Civics Class.

Understanding of Today's World

Social Studies play an important role in our everyday life. From such courses as history, psychology, sociology, geography, and civics the students of P.H.S. acquire vital information to aid them in making decisions not only today but later in life. The students are given a full background in the ideals of a democratic form of government, the relative factors which affect a cultural group, and an understanding of various emotions.

Maxine Mercer points out an island off the coast of South America.

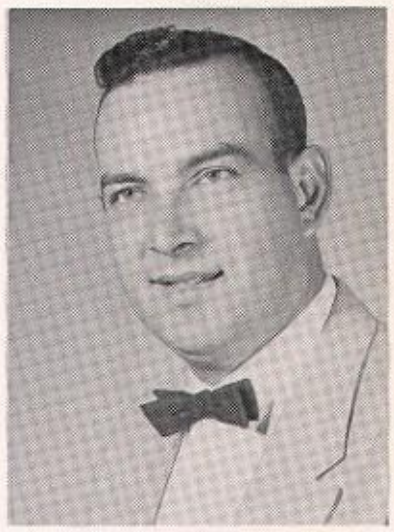


In a symposium sociology students discuss adjustment problems in connection with human nature.

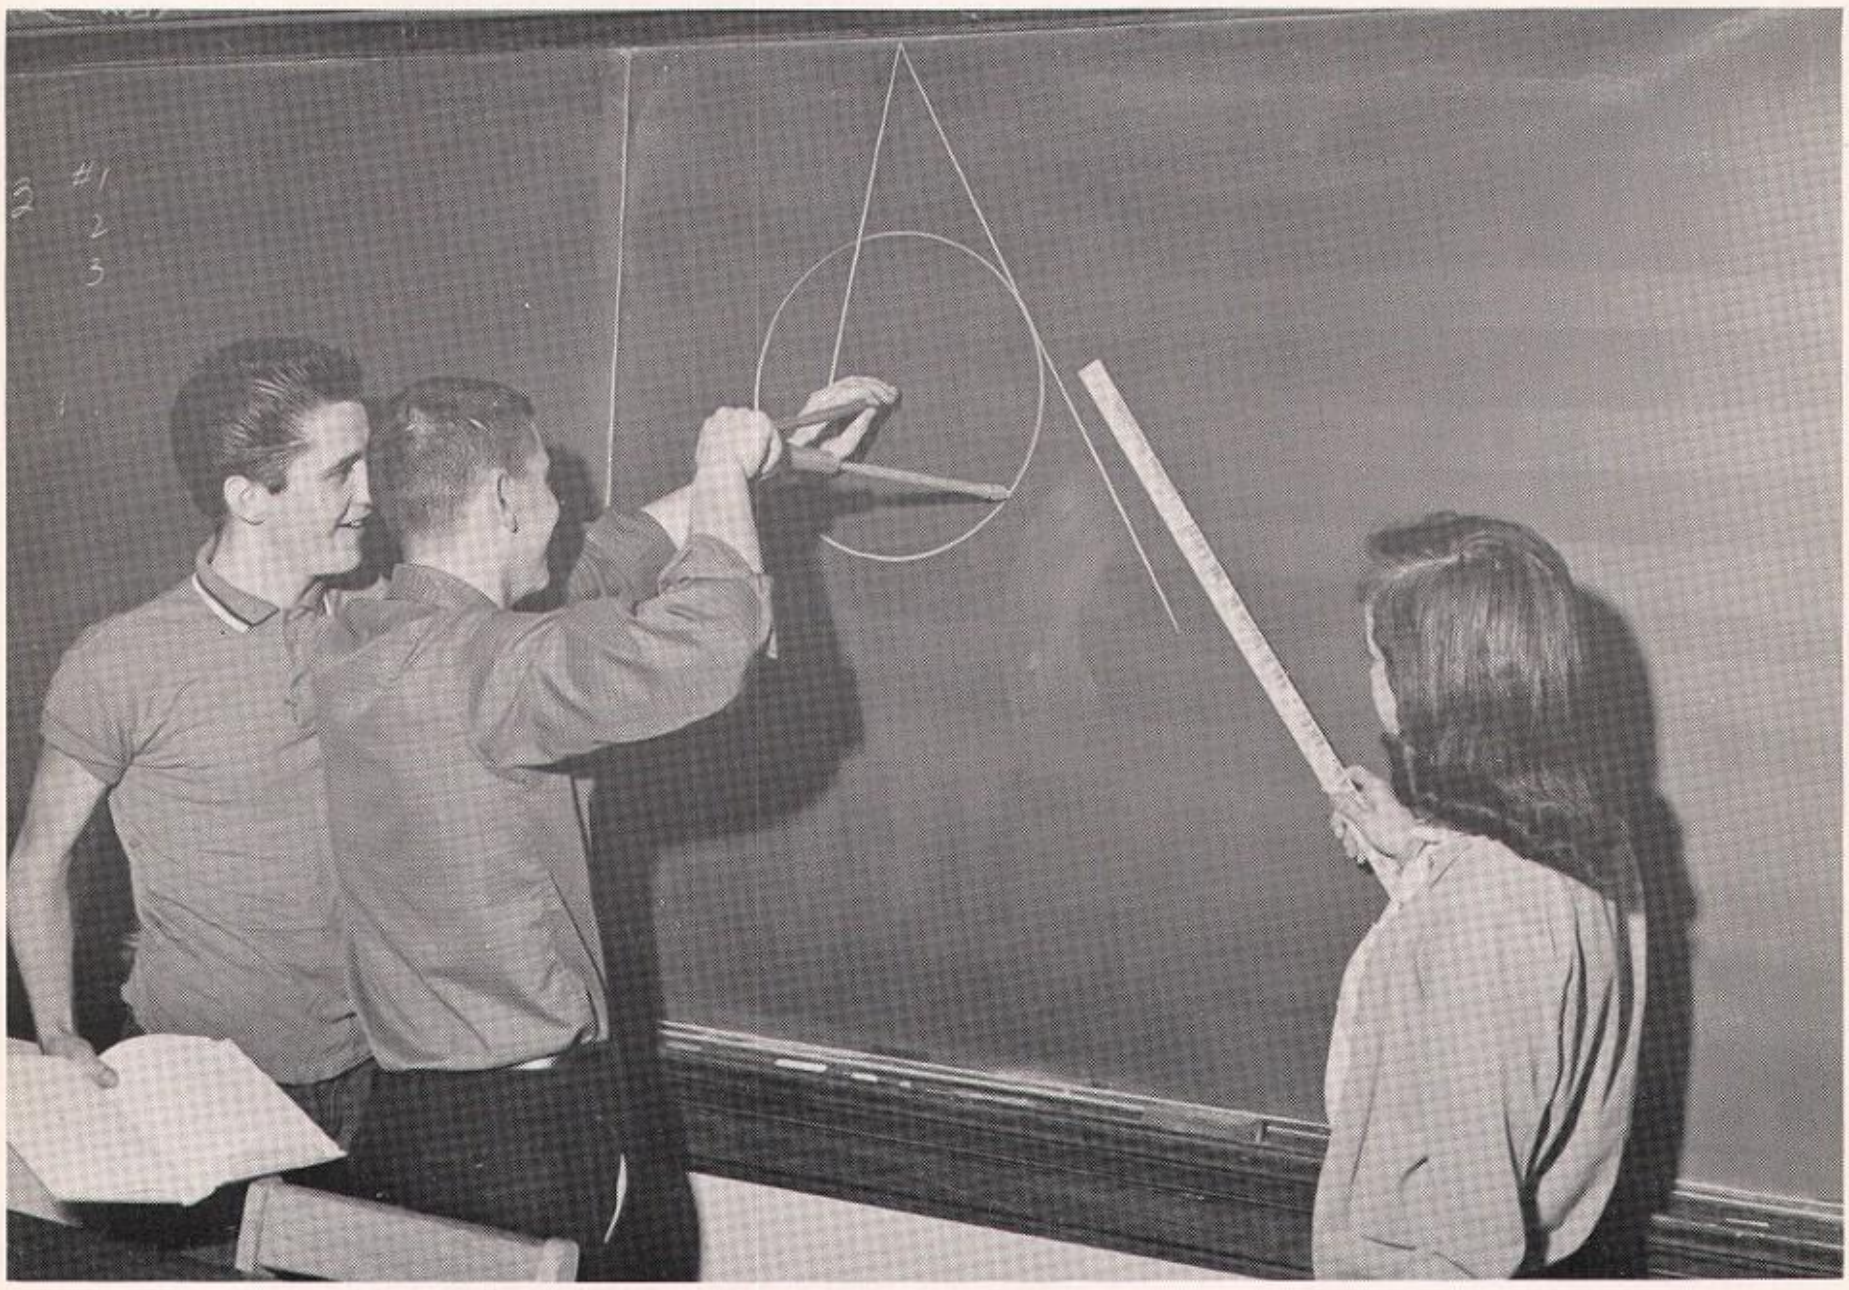
The Challenge of Mathematics Inspires

Miss Clara B. Borden

Mrs. Ruth B. Eley



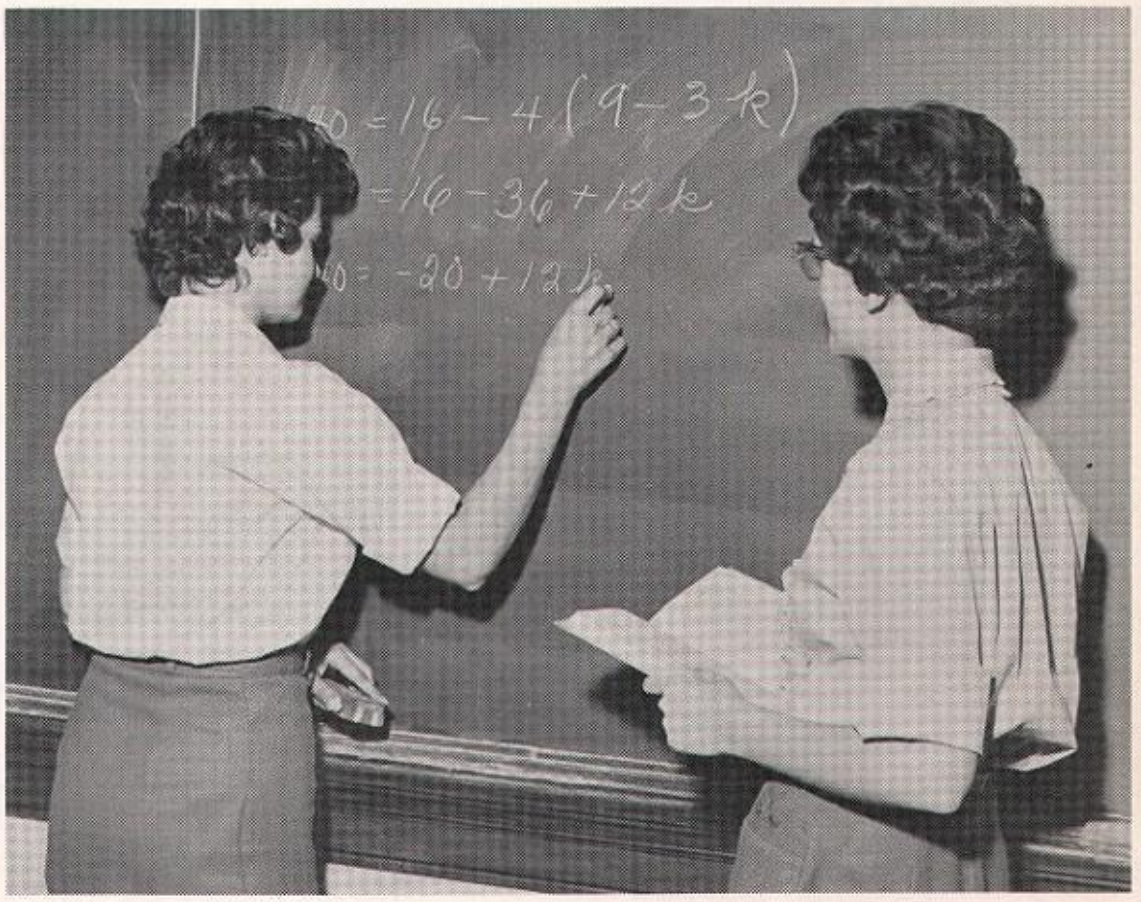
Mr. Frank Robertson



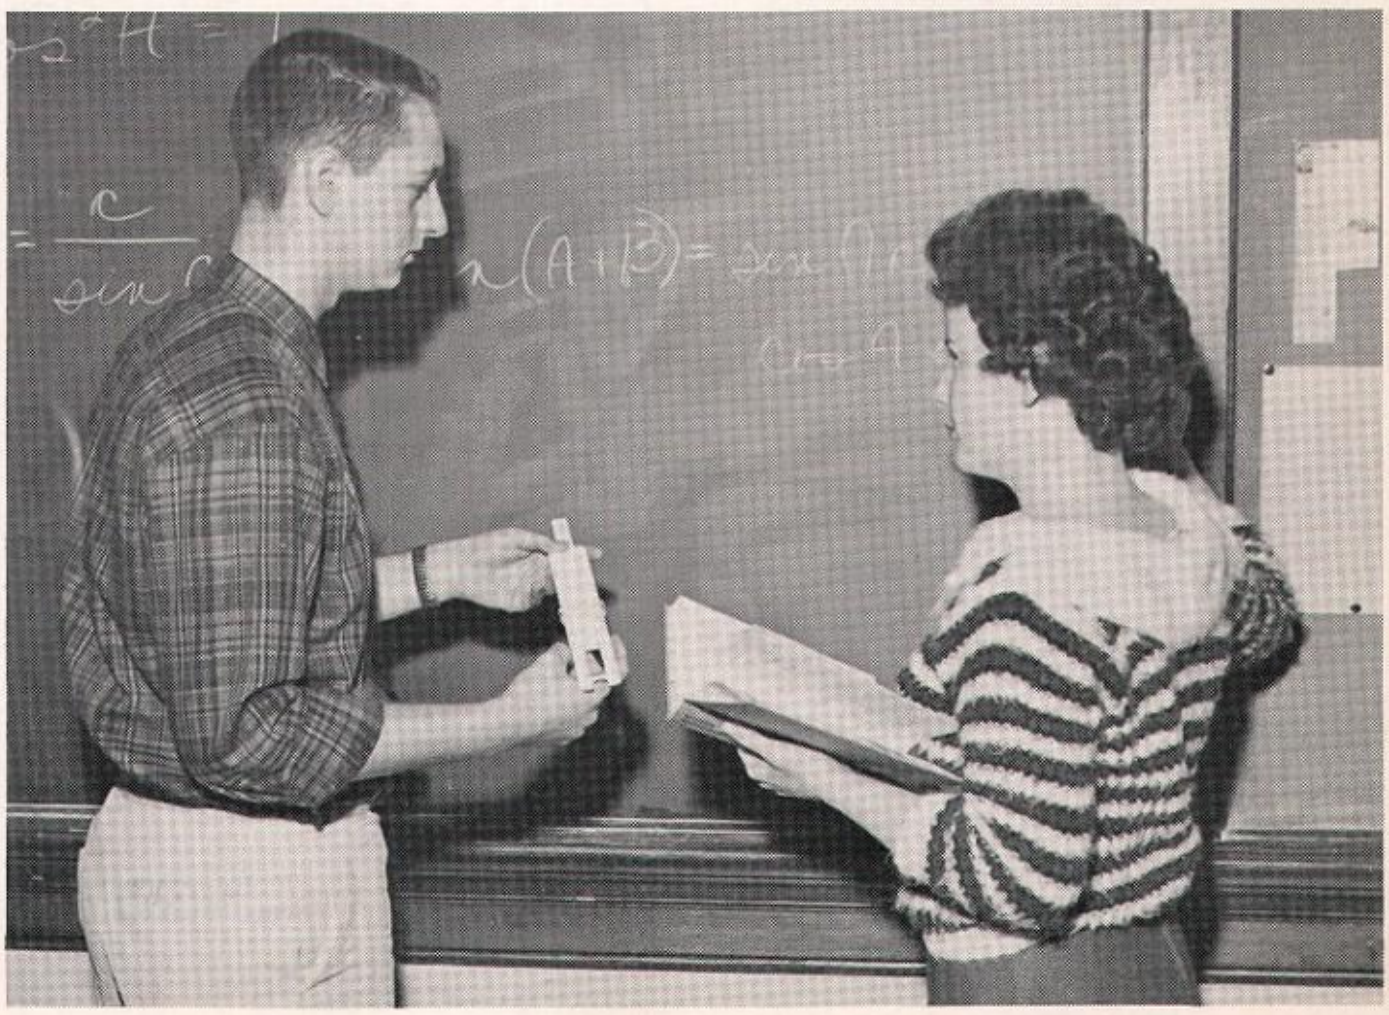
George Poor, Betty Norris, and George Hallowell construct a circle with its tangent. Algebra and Geometry provide the basic math for advanced work in this area.

Many Students to Higher Goals

Pendleton High School offers a variety of math courses for all students. Advanced courses are given as college preparatory work, and Business Math and General Math are basic in learning how to operate a prosperous and successful business.

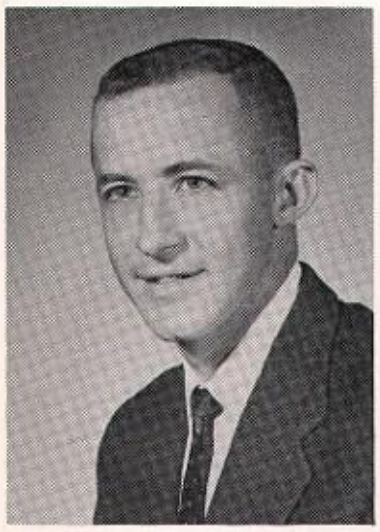


Jane Stupples finds an Algebra problem easy, but Marilyn Johnson checks the answer anyway.

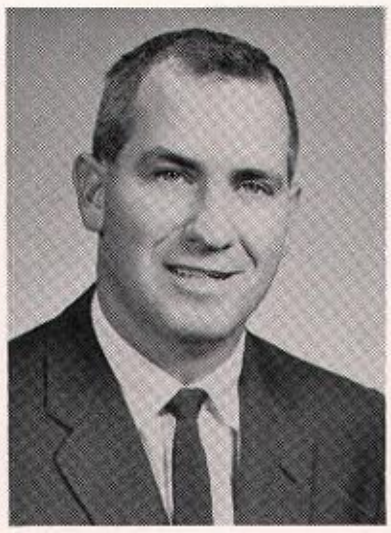


John Wilkins and Marcia Myers prove that there is more than one way to "skin" a problem. Algebra III, Trigonometry, and Senior Math supply the higher mathematics needed by the academic student.

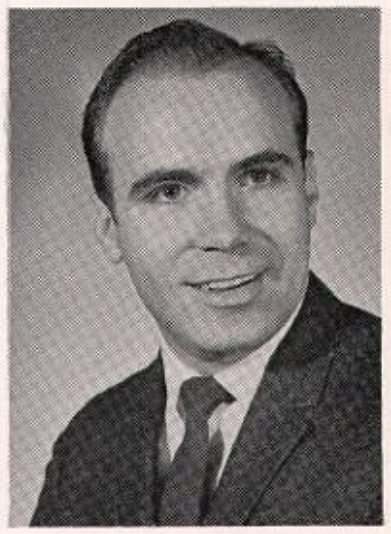
Amoebae, H_2O, and Tintinnabulation



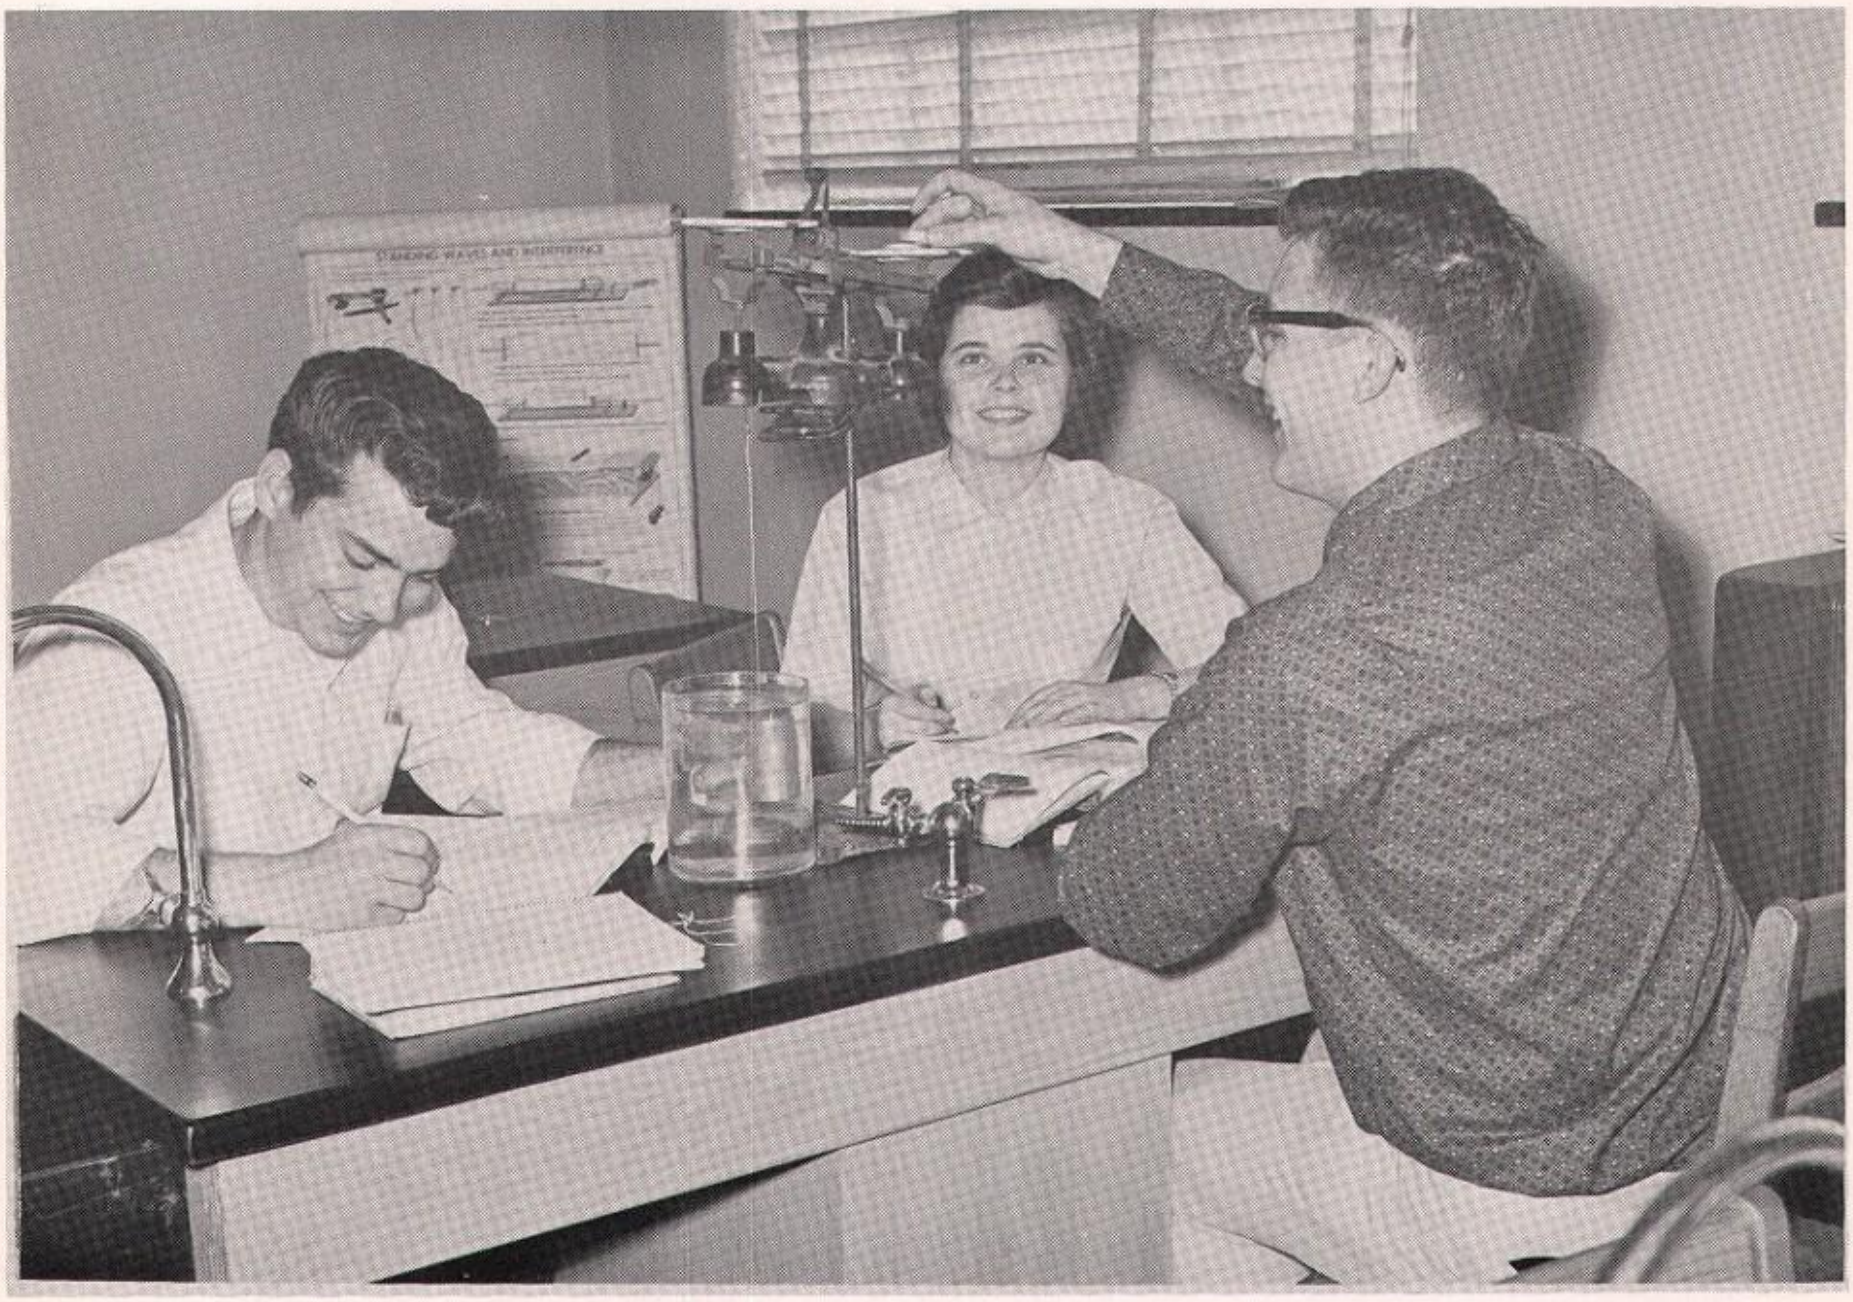
Mr. Gerald H. Berry



Mr. James R. Carey



Mr. Bernard Mendenhall

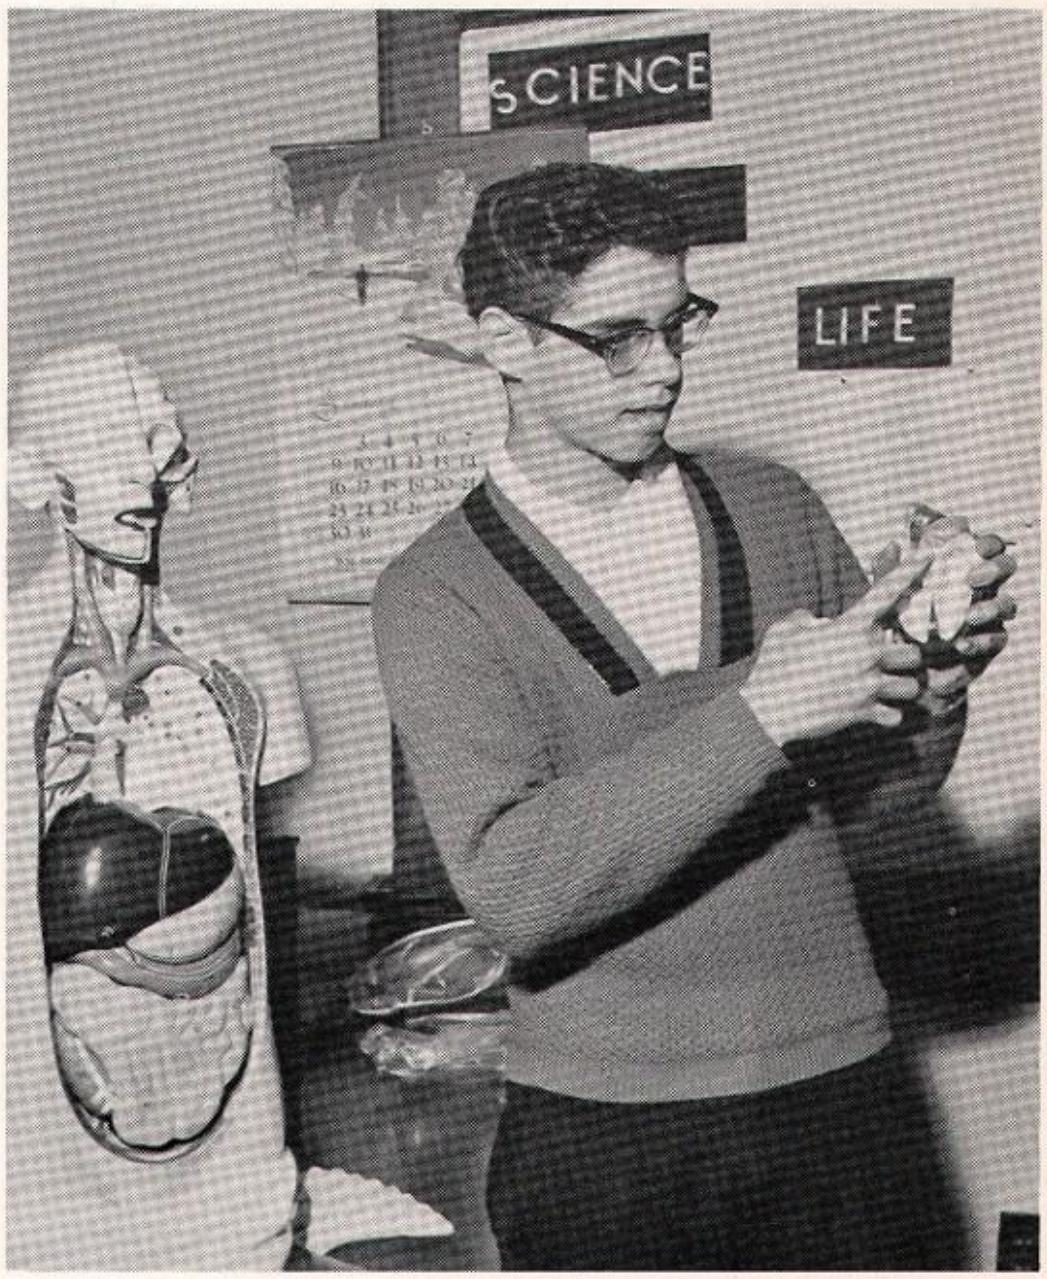


"This should do the trick," says Dennis Hopkins hopefully as Mike Walker and Nancy Dyer realize that specific gravity has its drawbacks. Physics, a Senior elective, gives the student an understanding of such relative factors as sound, light, and electricity.

Enliven the Science Courses

"What time is it now in Hoboken?" asks Mr. Carey of a bewildered Terry Palmer.

Training for vocations such as nursing, engineering, and electronics requires fundamental science courses in high school. In the sophomore year, Biology gives a brief introduction to the anatomy of the animal kingdom and also the homo sapiens. A newly equipped science laboratory adds even more interest to Chemistry, the study of chemical composition and analysis.



Gary Ridenour explains the functions of the human heart.

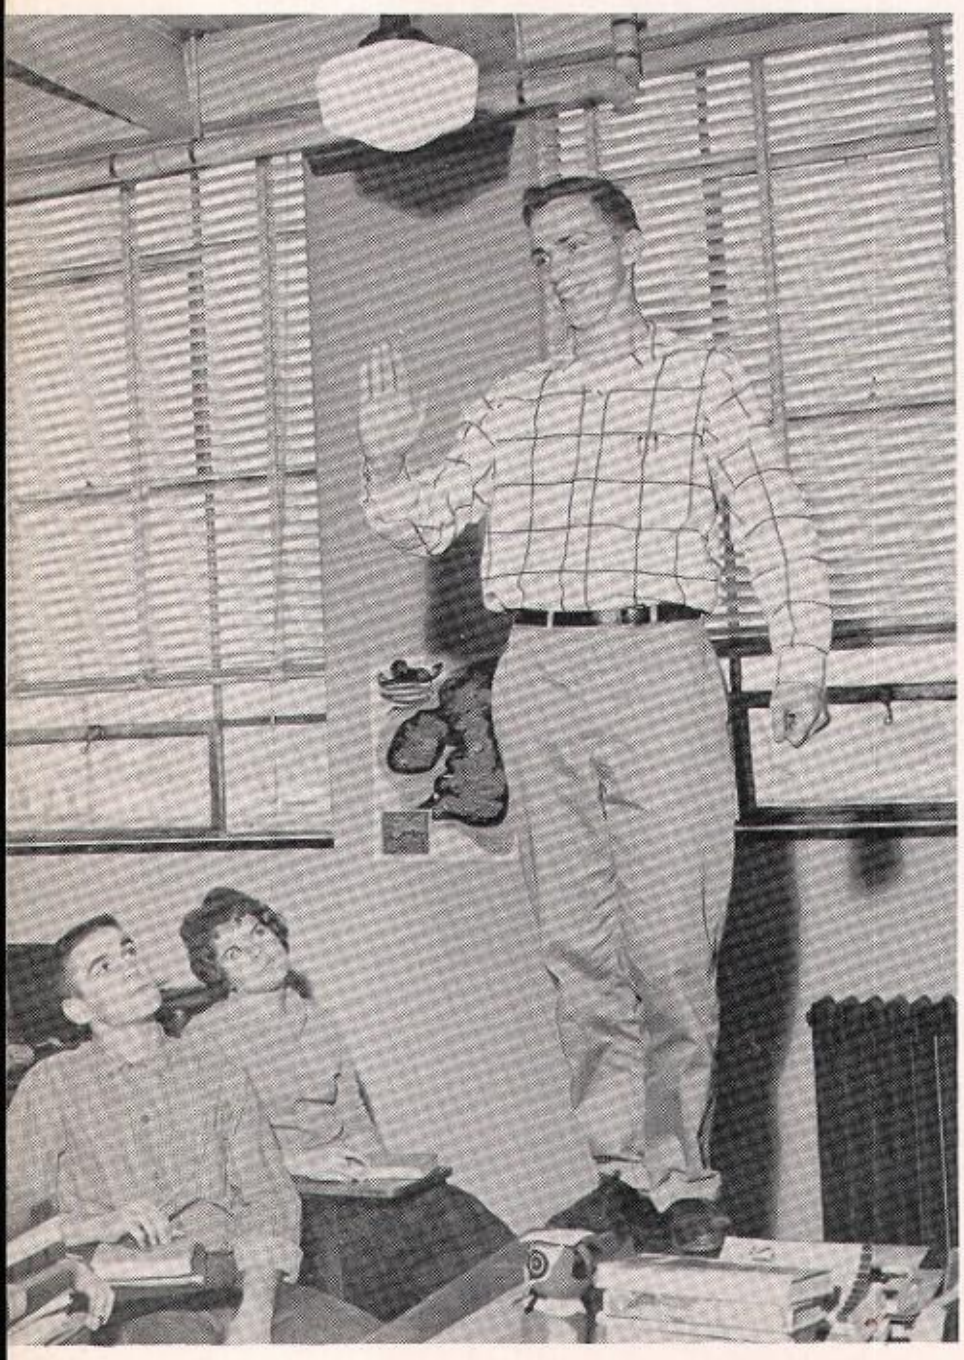
Literature and Language, Useful Tools,

Miss Lois E. Blair

Mr. Joseph Douthitt

Mrs. Karen C. Holdeman

Through stories, historical tales, plays, essays, and novels, the student learns of his own country, of foreign lands, and of the thoughts, opinions, and attitudes of the inhabitants of each. English continues to lay the foundations of education by promoting understanding of grammar and word usage, while Speech enables the student to express himself fluently and correctly. Spanish offers the student an opportunity to learn the language and culture of another people.



Roy Osborn pantomines a window washer during one of the lighter moments in speech class.

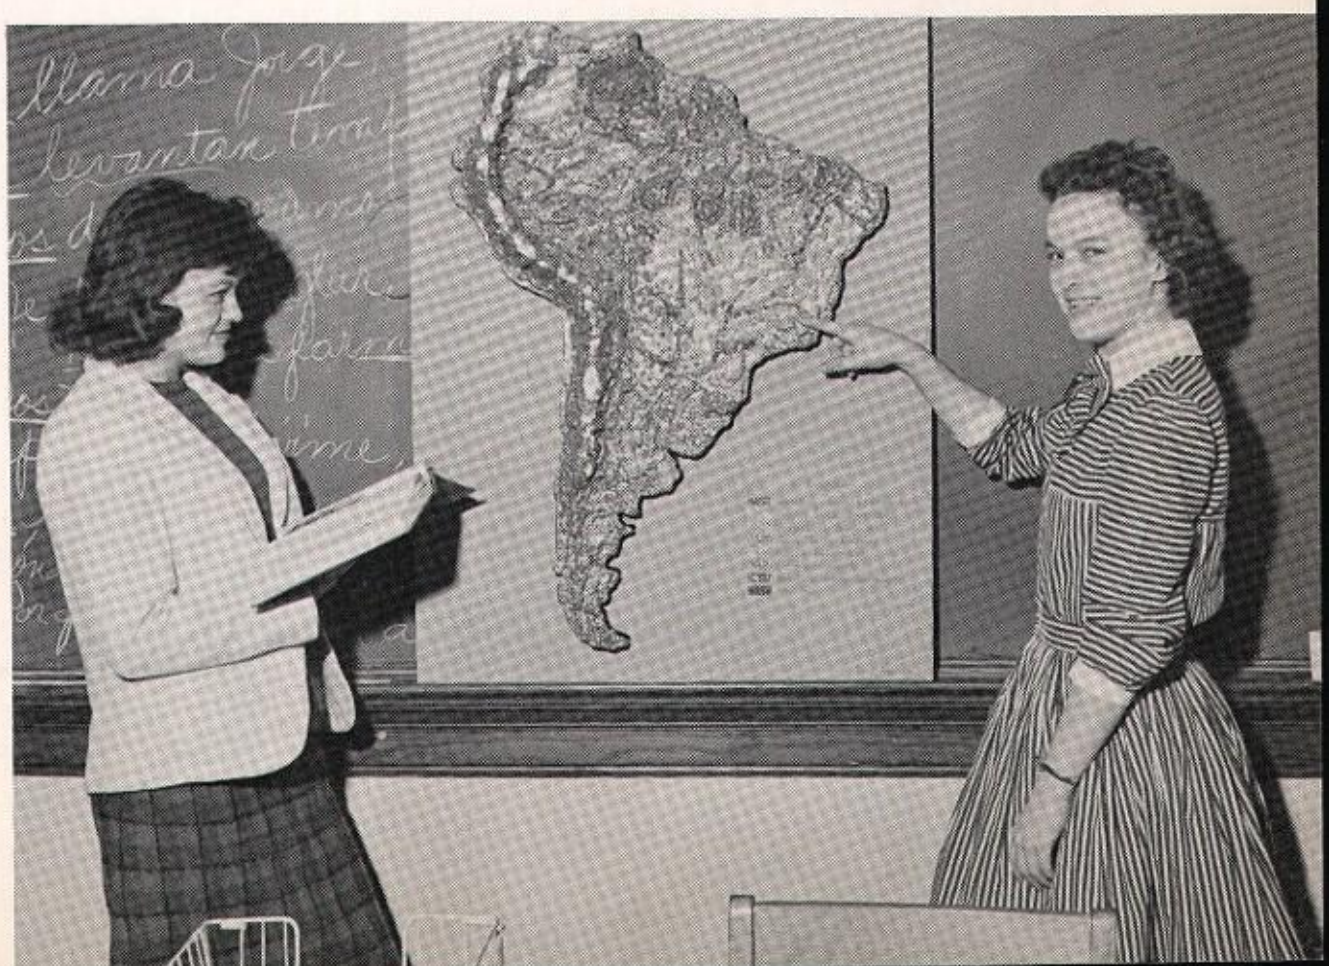
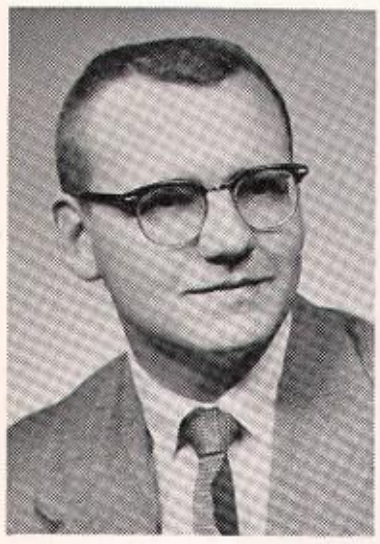
Mrs. Jennie Weaver

Tom Edwards discovers that proper identification of all quoted reference material is essential as he strives diligently to beat the deadline on his English 12A term paper.



Linda Prigg triumphantly finds a Brazilian mountain on a South American relief map as Trena Fesler quizzes her.

Commerce Students Are Trained to Meet



Mr. James E. Crosley

Mrs. Norma Ritz

Mrs. Nancy Wynant

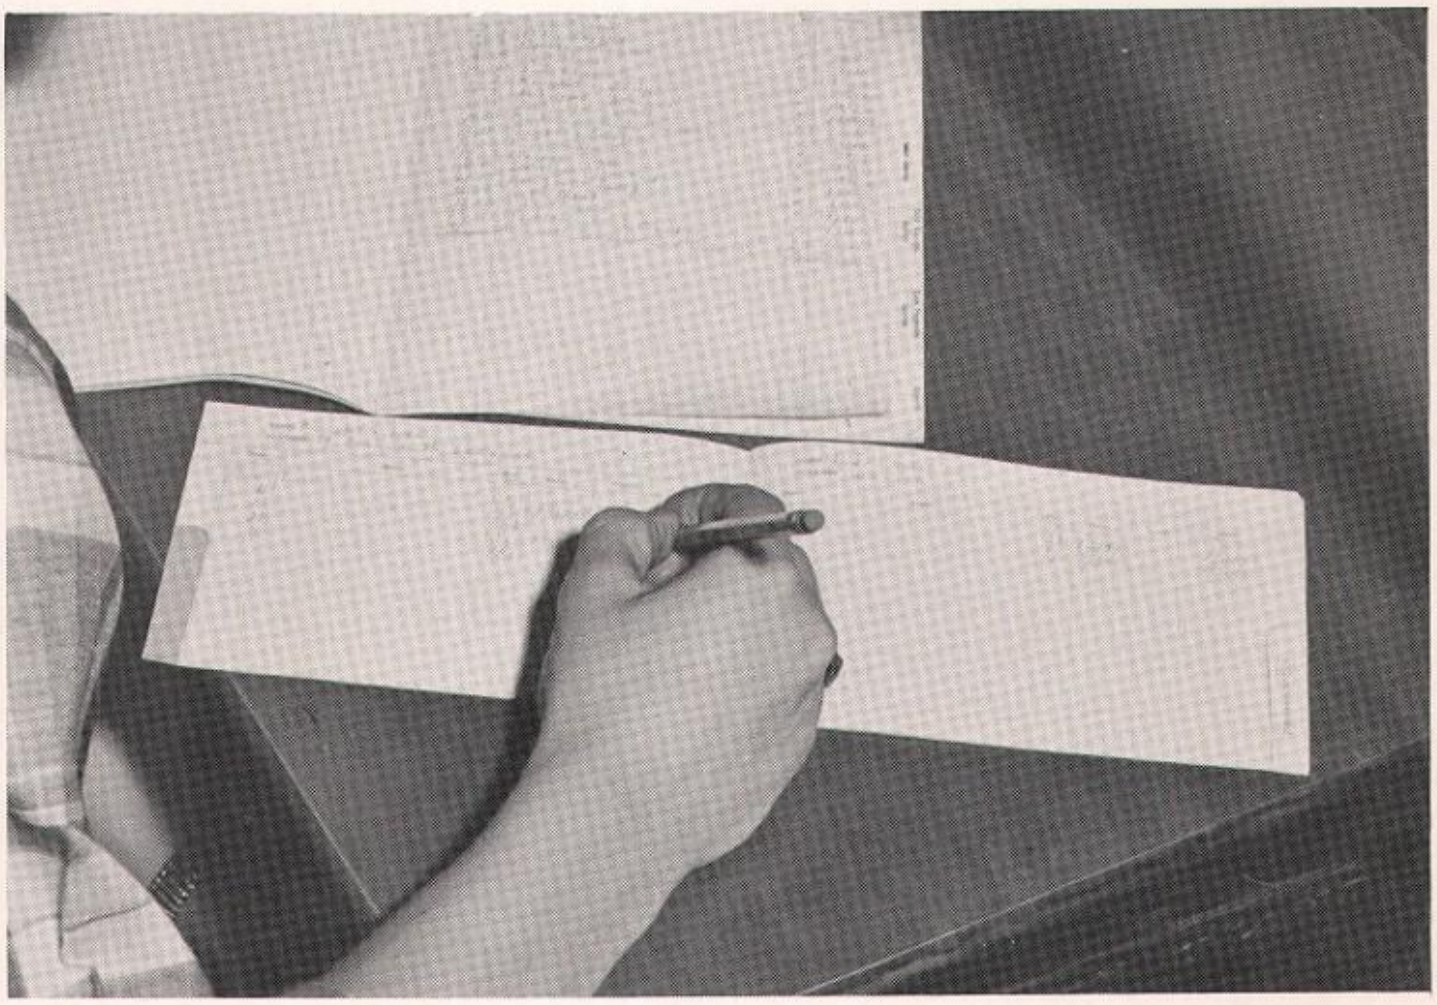
There is a great demand for able employees in the field of business. Pendleton High School helps meet this demand by graduating trained people each year. The commercial courses available to the students include secretarial training, bookkeeping, and two years of typing and shorthand.

Although many students will not continue in business, their commercial training will always be of value in everyday life.

Mrs. Wynant explains the finer points of "newspaper" to Peggy Alford.

the Ever-Increasing Business Demand

Varying degrees of disgust are registered by senior typing students during a timed writing.



Balancing the sales journal with the accounts receivable ledger proves to be an unending task for Steve Seybert.

Vocational Courses Reveal Creative

Mr. Richard Keithley

Mr. Paul Umberger

Mechanical Drawing and Industrial Arts develop the skills of our high school students. In the beginning classes of Mechanical Drawing, students study orthographic drawings and shape descriptions. Architecture is studied in the advanced class. Industrial Arts offers students a chance to explore the realms of woods, general metals, machine metals, transportation, and electricity.

Billy Creel shows Eston Rohr how to use a micrometer on a metal lathe.

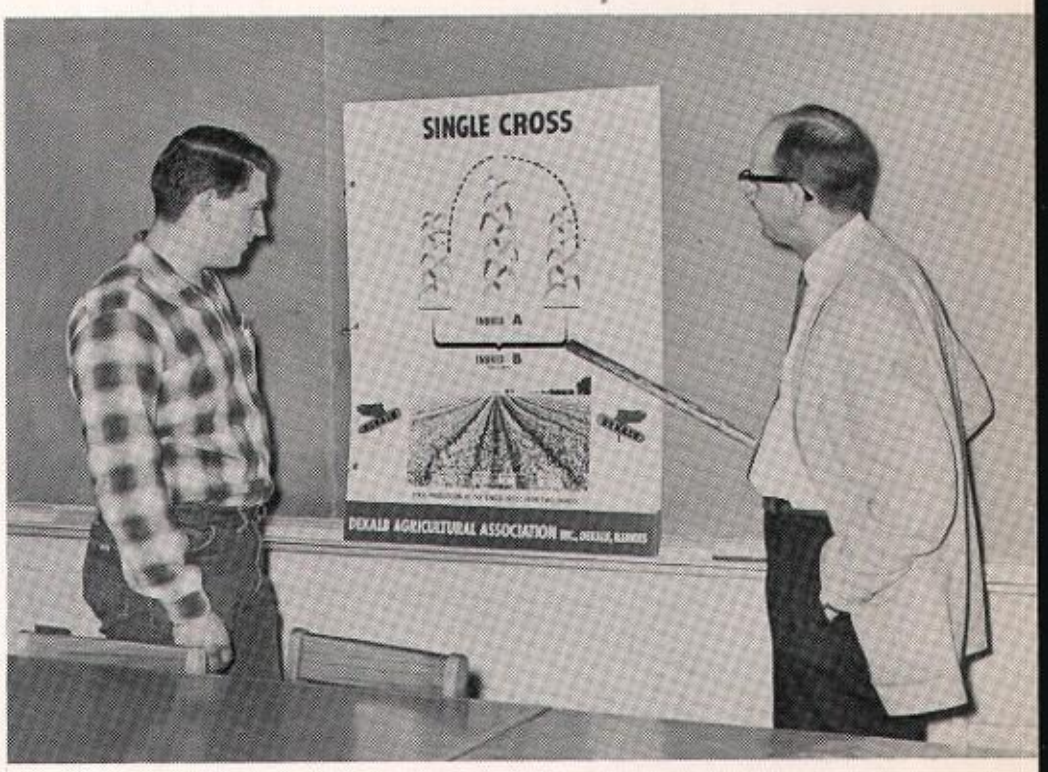
Talents Necessary for Specific Jobs

Home Economics and Vocational Agriculture provide for future homemakers and future farmers the skills needed in their individual field. Home Economics gives students basic training in six fields of study including foods, clothing, management, child care, family relations, and health.

Vocational Agriculture offers four years of training to students, including one year of farm shop, which can be taken in either the junior or senior year of high school. The curriculum offered in vocational agriculture is developed around a supervised farming program, which is carried on by the boys enrolled in this course.

Mrs. Margaret A. Wilken

Mr. Frederick E. Wolf



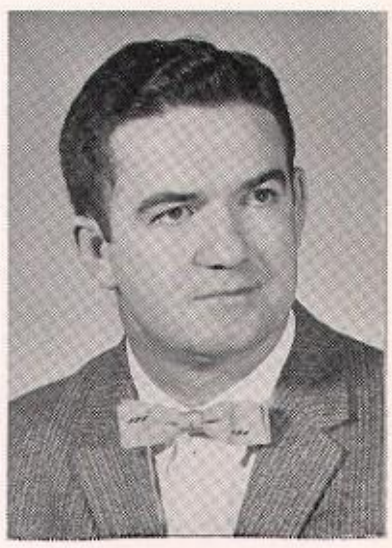
A better corn crop is the goal of Robert Pike as Mr. Wolf explains a chart.

A pinch of this and a dash of that, and members of the senior Home Economics class turn out a perfect meal.

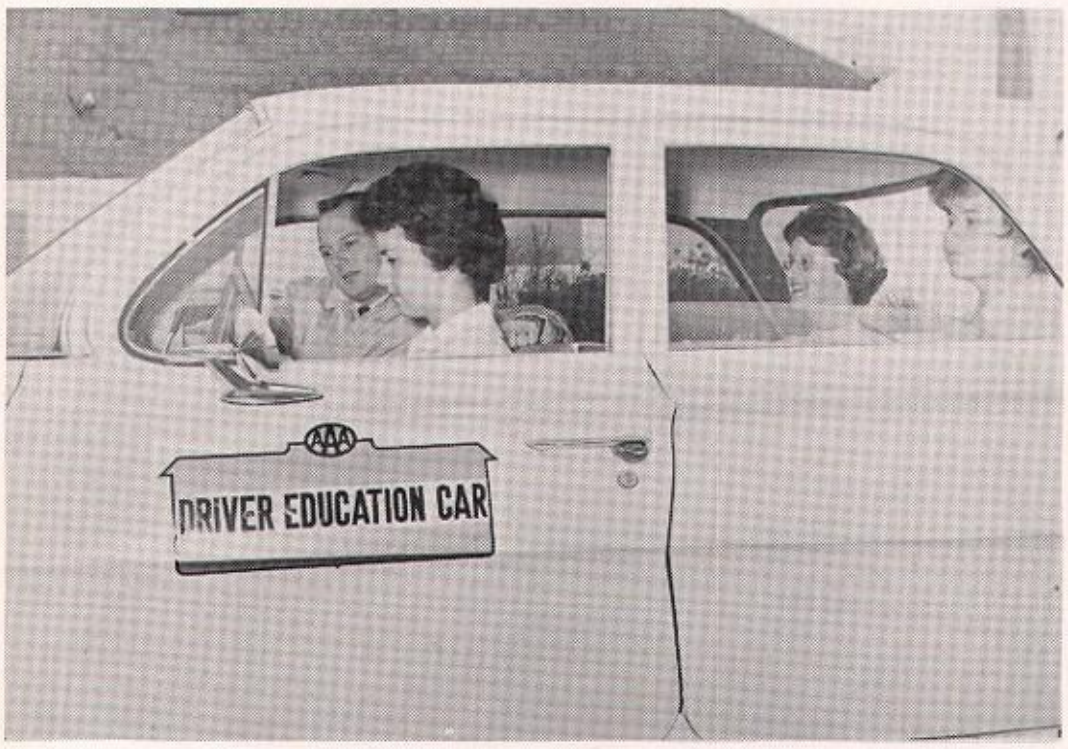
Varied Subjects Add Spice to Curriculum

Mr. James Chandler

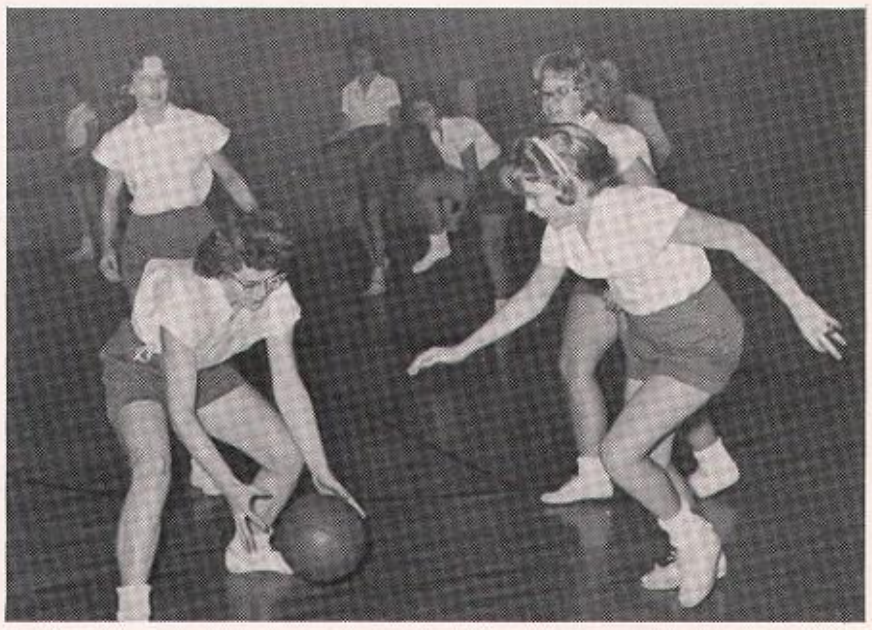
Miss Margaret Clark



Mr. Carl E. Floyd

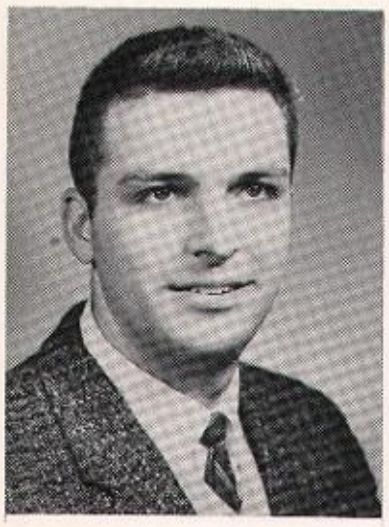


" 'R' doesn't stand for 'race'," Mr. Keithley patiently explains to Sharon Higginbotham, Jeanne Brown, and Nancy Dyer. They are enjoying the 1961 Chevrolet provided by Cox and Puckett for training prospective drivers.



Pam Widener gets the tip ball, but she faces strong opposition from Cheryl Kirby, Kathy Kline, and Cheryl Kuhns.

and Provide Escape from the Basic 3 R's



Mr. Harold Swander

Miss Juanita Wollert

A customary operation for the boys in printing classes is to print passes, absence slips, class play tickets, and programs.

Band students watch intently while Mr. Chandler directs a spirited selection.

Searching intently for the right degree of shadow, Martha Jones studies the bust while other young artists seem to have found what they desire.

Administrative Duties Executed Faithfully

The Superintendent of Schools is an officer representing jointly the local school board and the State Department of Education. He acts as the executive and administrative officer of the local Board of Education. It is his duty to put into operation and administer effectively the policies as adopted and approved by the local Board of Education. The Superintendent, working with the members of the Board of Education, endeavors to provide the best possible educational opportunity for the children of the community.

Mr. Harold Smith, Superintendent of Schools, is from Marshall, Illinois. He is a graduate of Indiana Central College and Indiana University. He and Mrs. Smith are the parents of two children.

Mrs. Esther Haner pauses while she performs one of her many duties as Mr. Smith's secretary.

The Board of Education is a policy-forming legislative body composed of laymen elected by the people and representing on one hand the State of Indiana and on the other the interests of the local community. Being an agency of the State, it has its duties and limitations prescribed by State law.

School boards are created solely for the welfare of the children and the public, and they hold such powers as are necessary to promote the best interests of the children and the community. Their additional duties include locating and providing facilities for schools, caring for and managing school property, and providing personnel to operate all school plants and facilities.

One of the finest, the shop building houses the latest equipment for machine shop training.

Mr. Ernest Miller, High School Principal, came to Pendleton this year. He is a graduate of Goshen College and Indiana University. Mr. and Mrs. Miller are from Goshen, Indiana, and have two children.

The office of the Principal is the hub of the high school. Each day our principal, Mr. Miller, supervises and coordinates all activities concerning students and faculty.

School convocations, club programs, athletic events, records of student grades and attendance help to make up the work of this office. In addition there are books to be sold or rented, money to be counted and deposited, telephone messages to be delivered, accidents to be taken care of, minor ailments to be treated, student conferences to be held, and public relations to be maintained.

Mr. Miller is assisted by Miss Borden, assistant principal, and Mrs. Reighard, secretary.

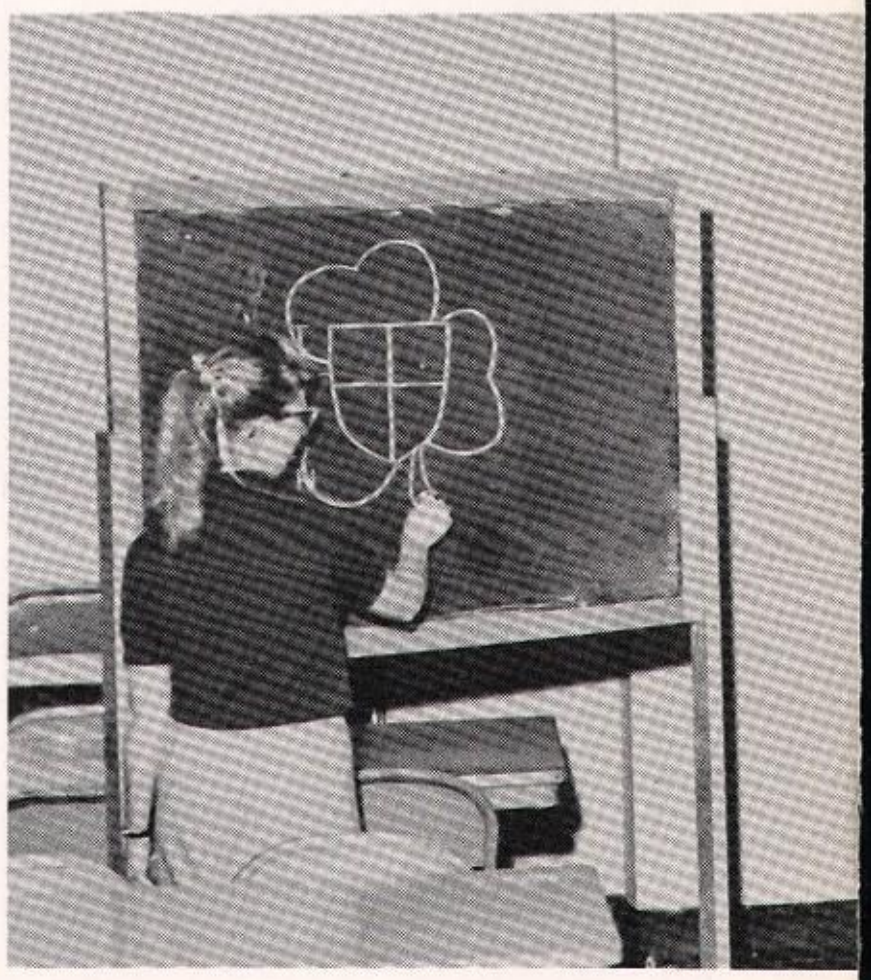
Student Council–1926

Few or Many —



Even in 1886, activities added humor and interest to the school curriculum. Although some organizations such as Latin Club, Boys' Glee Club, and Press Club no longer exist, the Sunshine, G.A.A., and Student Council have weathered the years and remain. In addition, informal get-togethers help break the routine of a sometimes tedious day. There are also the big events; Sunshine - Hi-Y Christmas Dance, Junior and Senior Class Plays, and the Prom.

Several talented students participate in the Band Boosters Talent Show.

Offer Release from Daily Grind

Convocations by both local and professional talent added to the extra-curricular activities enjoyed by the student body. Special recognition convos were given for sports, music students, and scholastic achievement. The annual Senior convo exposed the hidden talents of several students.

Upperclassmen

Stagestruck Juniors met their first class play, "That's My Cousin," with great enthusiasm — enthusiasm so great that two complete casts were selected to perform on consecutive nights. The production involved long rehearsals and hard work but loads of fun. Being unable to use the stage for rehearsal at times was inconvenient, but not enough to stop the relentless Juniors; the hall served the purpose perfectly. Although adlibbing highlighted the actual performances, it went by unnoticed and the auditorium rang with laughter.

"Ask Any Girl" reaches its climax with all members of the cast content.

Demonstrate Theatrical Tendencies

Hot off Broadway, the Senior class play "Ask Any Girl" provided hard work, fun, and general relaxation for thirteen girls and six boys. For a while rehearsals were tumultuous; but as curtain time drew near, everything fell into place with remarkable ease. Valuable dramatic experience was gained under the direction of Mr. Joseph Douthitt and Nancy Stephenson and Steve Chappell, student directors.

"My! There has been a change in you!" exclaims Mike Robinson, as he gazes admiringly at Bonnie Keesling.

From Classical to Popular, Musicians and

With considerable energy and great gusto, the Pendleton High School Band serenaded the residents along South East Street with a rousing march at the "crack of dawn" frequently last summer. Thus, with new ideas and plenty of enthusiasm, the band began the year under the leadership of a new director, Mr. Chandler.

First on the agenda was the State Fair Farmer's Day Parade where the band proudly placed eighth in a field of twenty-seven. This was followed by two college Band Days at Ball State Teacher's College and Purdue University.

Between the B-Team and the Varsity games at alternate ballgames, the band put on outstanding performances in music and marching drills. At the other games the Irishettes, a talented group of eighteen girls, performed. After the games the Dance Band provided the music for a "soc hop."

A Variety Show in April featured the music department of Pendleton High School, and the band, of course, played a large part in its success.

Choristers Make Perfection Their Goal

With a vivid burst of song, the Pendleton High School Chorus began the year with a new director. Under the able leadership of Miss Margaret Clark, several members have placed high in the state, county, and district contests. In the district contest, of nine entries, we received five firsts and four seconds. In the state contest those solos receiving a first division rating were: Trudi Hoffman, Karen Fidler, Susan Sowash, and the girls' Triple Trio composed of Hedi Hoffman, Pam Blueher, Susan Sowash, Pam Wellons, Trudi Hoffman, Jane Titus, Carolyn Boicourt, Cathy Wellman, and Miriam Wisehart. Alan Jarrett received a second division rating.

"The Egg and I" Supplies Hams for Baskets

Corsages, boutonnieres, and "Silver Bells' were the order of the evening last December for the Christmas Dance co-sponsored by the Hi-Y Club and the Sunshine Society. Mike Shipley and his band kept the evening full of fun and dancing.

The Hi-Y Club sponsored a movie for elementary students, a Thanksgiving program, and an Easter program for the high school students. In the Thanksgiving program students expressed their thankfulness for their summer opportunities sponsored by the school.

Byron Rider represented the Pendleton Chapter at Camp Tecumseh, Delphi, Indiana. This year the club merited a certificate of achievement, given to outstanding Hi-Y clubs throughout the state.

The initiation of fifty-six boys last fall brought the total enrollment to eighty-four, the highest membership in the club's history.

Mr. Robertson, sponsored the club, and the officers were Byron Rider, president; John Morris, vice-president; George Hallowell, secretary-treasurer; Mike Thomas, chaplain; and Mike Robinson, sergeant-at-arms.

Sunbeams Combine Fun with Service

"To be a loyal student of my school
And helpfulness to others a daily rule."

These lines from the Sunbeam Society Creed characterize the purpose of the organization. Open to Eighth Grade girls only, the organization prepares its members for a successful future at Pendleton High School. P.H.S. owes its litter-free campus to the time and work of this group.

There social functions throughout the year include initiation shortly after the beginning of school, the Christmas Party, the Easter program, and the program for all of the girls of the school in the spring.

Serving as Sunbeam officers for the year were: Janice A. Fisher, president; Cara Lou Brown, vice-president; Janice L. Fisher, secretary; Pam Davis, treasurer.

"Tell me when," says Kirby Carey to Billy Bingaman as Frances Burke and Sharon Best proceed to fill their plates.

"Afraid of the Dark" Delights Audience

"Up!" says Karen Rumler as Pam Wellons, Joan Sears, Peggy Miller, and Susan Fuller prepare to ascend on The Elevator.

Cellmates Phil Bailey, John Robinson, and Steve Seybert receive last rites from Chaplain Phil Carson as Warden Terry McLary supervises.

Several ambitious young Thespians coached by Mr. Douthitt learned the ins and outs of the theater. Five plays received the cherished rave notices: Apartment to Share, New Bride, Little Prison, Afraid of the Dark, and The Storm. The 26 members of the club were led by Steve Seybert, president; Karon McCrory, vice-president; Judy King, secretary; and Carol Baker, treasurer.

Track-Field Day Is New G.A.A. Activity

The G.A.A. assists athletically-inclined girls in learning good sportsmanship and strong leadership qualities.

Early this fall Vicki Cornell, Linda Robinson, and Miss Wollert attended a leadership camp at Camp Tecumseh, Delphi, Indiana, where they obtained many new ideas.

The girls participated in different sports and became quite skilled in some. They won most of the volley-ball games with other schools and they placed third in a basketball tournament at Rushville. This spring the G.A.A. were hosts at a track and field meet where Pendleton was well represented. Other sports they enjoyed were deck tennis, bowling, softball, tumbling, and soccer.

The referee's whistle blows as G.A.A. girls struggle frantically for possession of the ball.

Future Farmers and Homemakers

Karen Burke, while carefully measuring flour for a pie, captures the attention of Elaine Jarrett, Frances Michael, and Judy Mercer.

While most organizations are sounding their gavels for the last time, the coming of summer brings the Girls' 4-H Clubs into vigorous activity. The Junior and Senior Pic Kwick Clubs offer girls many projects which prepare them not only as future homemakers but as tomorrow's citizens. Striving to live up to their motto, "To Make the Best Better," this year's Club received many outstanding awards for their achievement.

Members of the Club participated in judging and demonstration contests on both the county and district levels. The Madison County Dress Revue and the 4-H Fair ended the summer successfully.

Bonnie Keesling was awarded a 4-H Key Club Award for outstanding participation in the 4-H Club's activities. Bonnie also won a three-day achievement trip to Chicago.

The F.F.A. is a national organization of boys enrolled in vocational agricultural training. One of the main purposes of F.F.A. is to provide agricultural training for those who will be engaged in farming or some occupation closely related to agriculture.

The members study agriculture in the classroom and learn the principles of management by carrying out supervised programs on their farms. Many of these members are active in 4-H Club work and have shown many blue ribbon projects at the County Fair. A 4-H Key Club Award for outstanding work was awarded to John Morris.

In September, 1960, seven self-assured Seniors embarked on what was found later to be a feverish race with the calendar. Frantic days and sleepless nights characterized the lives of this year's Papyrus staff as they wracked their brains for suitable copy and struggled to meet deadlines.

Grease pencils, dummy sheets, and Roget's Thesaurus were tools of the trade that helped them produce a book worthy of the 75th graduating class.

Issued four times annually, the "Pen," the school paper, contains a wealth of information and pleasure. Class and organization news, sports, gossip, and special features fill its pages. Supervised by a faculty member, seven hard-working Seniors published and edited each edition. Amid the rush and last minute confusion, the staff has had many wonderful times.

Student Council Plans Beneficial Handbook

"Ideas In Action" of the Regional Student Council Convention is the subject of the conversation of Norris Cheshier, Mr. Hoover, and Nancy Stephenson.

The goal of this organization was to lay the basis for the future publication of a student handbook.

Pendleton High School sent representatives to the Regional Student Council Convention at Highland where problems of the student body were discussed.

The Student Council assisted with the election of Miss "Green" and Mr. "Gold" for the sectional and conducted the election of the car-check Queen.

The organization enjoyed a successful year under the leadership of Ben Cheshier, president; Nancy Stephenson, vice-president; Pam Blueher, secretary; and sponsors, Mr. Hoover and Mr. Miller.

Scholarship and Service Honorary Traits

Striving to encourage individual achievement in the field of journalism, a group of high school supervisors organized Quill and Scroll in 1926. Since that time 6,900 chapters have been developed in all 50 states, Australia, Canada, and Puerto Rico.

Members of this society from the Pen and Papyrus staffs must be scholastically in the top third of their class; they must have done superior work in some phase of journalism; they must be recommended by their advisor or high school principal, and approved by the Executive Secretary of the International Society.

Worthy leadership, good character development, enthusiasm for scholarship, and a desire to render service are requirements for membership in the National Honor Society. A scholastic average of 85% and faculty recommendation are also required.

Their Motto—Efficiency and Helpfulness

Each year a chosen few become the assistant librarians. While learning the duties of a librarian, they help Miss Blair catalogue books and prepare reference materials. Laureen Snodgrass attended the summer institute at Indiana University for high school librarians. The experience gained by these students assists them in deciding if they should pursue the rewarding career of a librarian.

Each period found someone darting through the halls snatching absence slips and delivering messages. This human dynamo was usually an office secretary performing one of the many duties. The secretaries spend much time compiling a list of each day's absentees, posting the attendance, filing letters and reports, typing, and taking telephone messages. Mrs. Reighard and Miss Borden gave a Christmas party for the secretaries in appreciation of their helpfulness.

Efficient librarians, Rebecca Jones, Laureen Snodgrasse and Karen Renicker, enjoy pleasant surroundings while aiding Miss Blair catalog new editions.

Hall Duty and Ping Pong Alter Schedule

Class discussion and test-grading occupy only a part of the teacher's school day. Noon auditorium duty, hall duty, working at ball games, enjoying a game of ping pong or a cup of coffee keep faculty members ever on the go.

As secretary of the athletic board, Miss Borden handles all the receipts from athletic contests.

Mr. Carey and Mr. Hoover enjoy ping pong with Larry Eckhardt and Phil Frist.

Grading papers in the hall is inconvenient, but Mrs. Tice finds it necessary while on noon duty.

Mr. Miller presents B-Team trophy to Jon Crosley.

350 or 1800 —

Just as the students, faculty, and curriculum have changed so have the sports facilities. In the old high school, our first gymnasium seated 350. In 1936 a separate gymnasium with a seating capacity of 1800 was built. In addition to this, a quarter-mile cinder track, a two and one-half mile cross country course, and two baseball diamonds are now available to the students of Pendleton High.

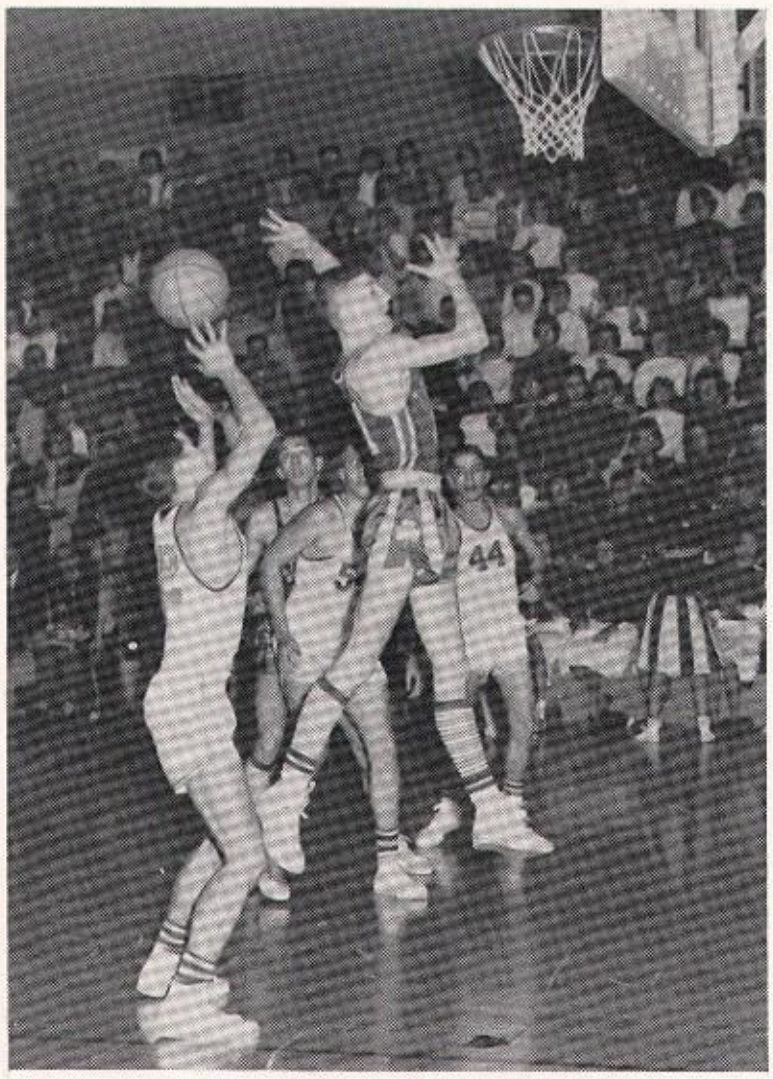
but "Will to Win" Prevails

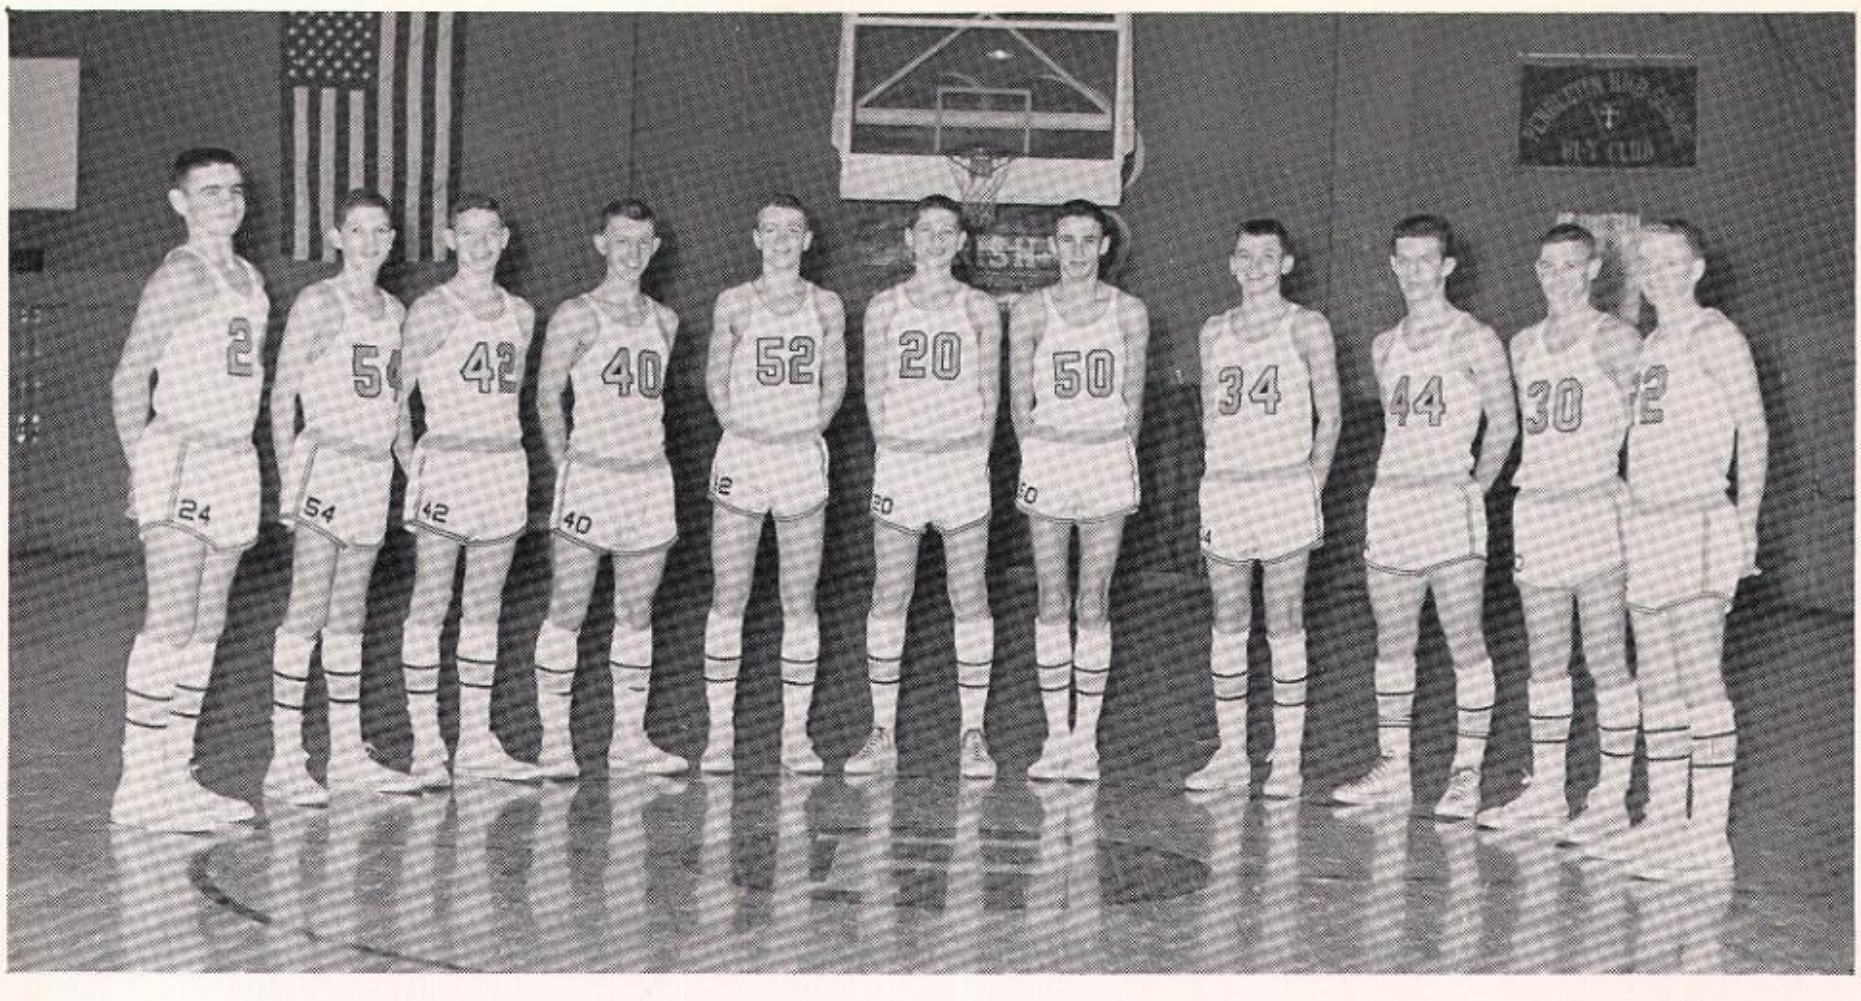


Bob Jones jumps high for a rebound as the Irish attempt to conquer Markleville Arabians.

The "Fightin' Irish" began the 1960-61 season with full force under the new coach, Mr. Floyd. By the Christmas vacation the team had a four-won and four-lost record. During the year the team lost five games by either one point or in an overtime. In the Invitational, they were defeated by Markleville 50-51. In a double overtime with Frankton, they came out victorious 57-55. In the Madison County Tourney, Lapel won 66-59.

Irish fans rise at a tense moment in the third quarter.

Dick Dawson and Phil Mabrey struggle to break the tie, with one minute and forty-one seconds to go in the last quarter.



B-TEAM: F. Burkholder, J. McLaughlin, V. Bankson, P. Hughes, A. Baker, P. Honnold, L. Campfield, M. Smith, L. Clark, M. Hanna, J. Crosley.

Reserves Finish with Impressive Season

The 1960-61 Irish Reserve team scored a successful year under the coaching of James Crosley. They played a total of twenty games and ended the season with a 13 won and 7 lost record. Their victories included the Pendleton Invitational Tourney in which they defeated Frankton 47-44. The championship game saw the Irish defeating Vernon Township 26-16. The two high scoring team members were Phil Honnold and Jon Crosley.

Despite hard training and excellent coaching the Freshman team, coached by Richard Keithley, came out on the short end this year. Although they won by a two point margin over Greenfield, they lost their other twelve games and ended the season with a 1 and 12 record. Next year their experience should pay off in many victories.

The Junior High team, coached by James Carey, enjoyed a winning season. They won 9 games and lost 6. They made a total of 536 points as compared to 461 points for their opponents. The leading scorers were Roger McCarty, Jerry White, Kenneth Hoppes, and Steve Miller.

FRONT ROW: L. Eckhardt, B. Cheshier, S. Cassidy, J. Young, M. Walker, J. Lee.

SECOND ROW: B. Rider, P. Hughes, P. Mabrey, B. Kirby, J. Briel, P. Honnold, Mr. Carey.

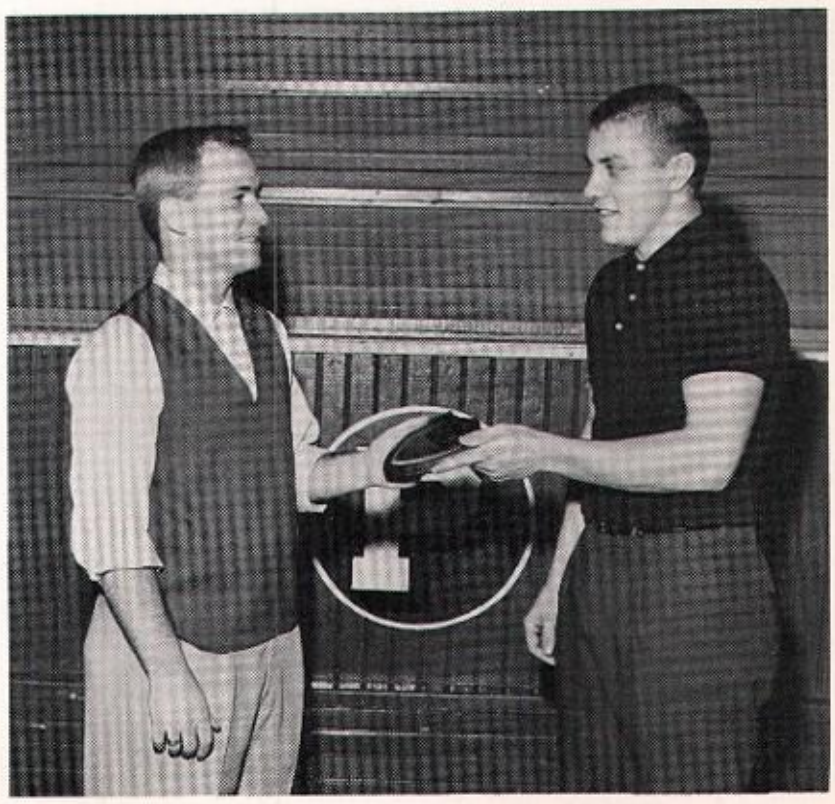
Strong Pitching Aids Conference Victory

The 1960 Pendleton Irish Baseball team was one of the best teams James Carey has ever coached. In every case the win was truly a team victory.

A total of 35 high school games were played during the summer with 22 victories and 13 defeats. With Ben Cheshier hitting a home run in the seventh inning, the Irish won the conference at St. Mary's with a 2 to 1 victory over Middletown.

Excellent pitching by James Lee helped bring victory to the team. Ben Cheshier, the catcher, was the leading batter with .378.

With the loss of six seniors, Coach Carey says 1961 will be a rebuilding year for the team.



Ben Cheshier, catcher, proudly accepts "Outstanding Player Award" from Coach Carey.

Winning over thirteen opponents and losing to only one, this year's cross-country team, coached by Richard Keithley, was one of the best in the history of P.H.S.

For the first time, the cross-country team won the Sectional at Anderson and placed fourth in the State Meet.

Steve Young, voted the most valuable player, broke the school record for the two mile course when he ran a record shattering 10:09. The runners who placed consistently this year were Steve Young, Richie Jones, Robert Jones, Jon Crosley, Virgil Bankson, John Morris, and John Rakes.

Coach Keithley awards Steve Young a silver belt buckle signifying that he was the most valuable player for the 1960 season.

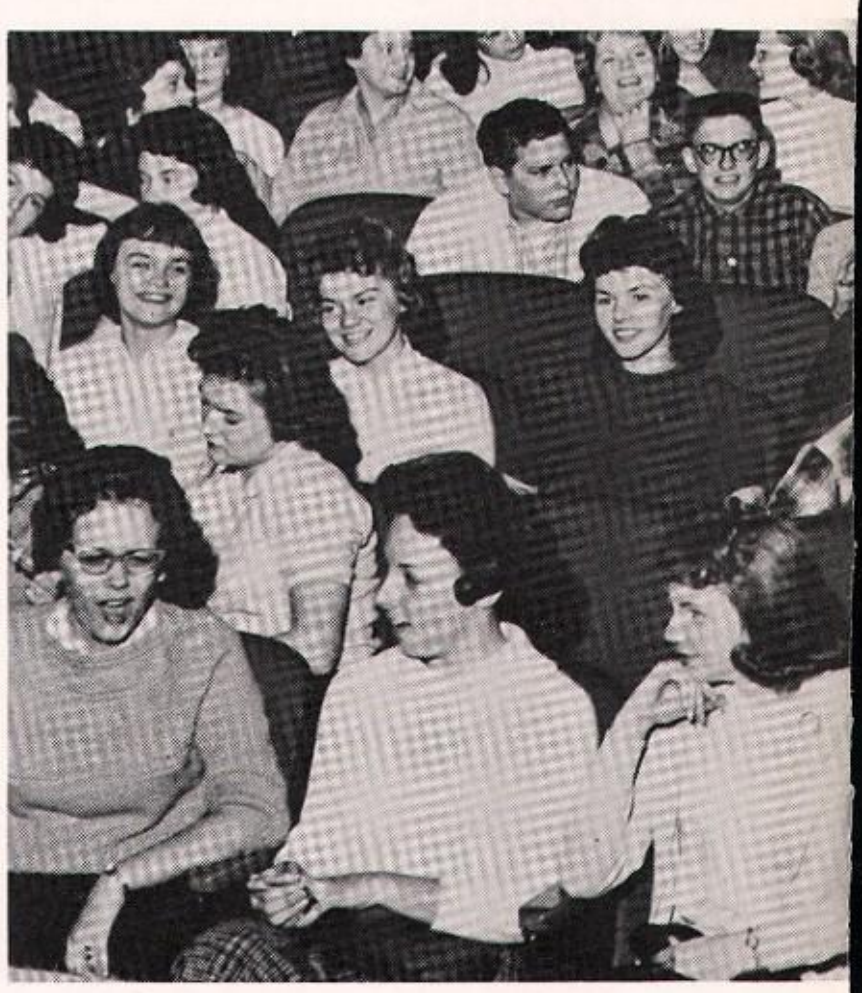
Class of 1917.

5 or 93 —



It is still today, as it was 75 years ago, the sharing of joys and disappointments, of good times and bad times, that unites the students and faculty of P.H.S. Each dream, ambition, victory, or fear, no matter how large or small, is shared by all. We each seek companionship and leadership, but we need look no farther than down the halls or through the classrooms of P.H.S.

Companionship and Leadership Shared by All

The itinerary for the class trip captures the attention of Senior class officers, Roy Osborn, president; Nancy Stephenson, vice-president; Pat Shepple, secretary; Sherry Wellman, treasurer; and sponsors Mr. Hoover and Mr. Robertson.

This Was Done by the Class of "61" . . .

The Seniors began the 1960-61 school year with full force. With the baseball games and annual advertising, the Seniors found the year's work beginning before classes in September.

A Halloween dance, rummage sale, Times subscription campaign, and paper drive added to the treasury for that exciting trip to Washington and New York.

In the first class meeting, Hedi Hoffman, Steve Seybert, and Jack Young, and the class officers, Roy Osborn, Nancy Stephenson, Sherry Wellman, and Pat Shepple, were elected as members of the steering committee. Among their many activities they narrowed the selection field of commencement announcements, the class motto, and the class flower.

With the civics trip, class play, class trip, and graduation, the Seniors found their last year as students at P.H.S. a busy year full of plans, dreams, and good times.

"Is my name on there?" Butch Fesler asks Mary Jo Manship.

Matured, and Prepared for the Future.

"You Must Climb High
to Reach Success"

Admiring their diplomas, Diane Trout, Larry Eckhardt, and Carol Jones ponder the future.

Drawing another proposal from the ever-popular suggestion box is Gary Norris, president, in the presence of Mrs. Mefford, sponsor; Bill Kirby, vice-president; Steve Young, treasurer; Mrs. Wynant, sponsor; and Linda Robinson, secretary.

Filled with great enthusiasm and new ideas, the Juniors came back to school last September to begin one of the busiest, happiest years of their lives. No longer were they mere underclassmen—they were upperclassmen with only the Seniors above them.

New class rings gleamed as the class of 1962 plunged into the production of their two-cast play, "That's My Cousin."

With the coming of basketball season, the selling of concessions at the games began. The sound of clinking coins, the smell of warm popcorn, and the nerve-wrecking business of making change and counting the take became familiar to Junior workers.

Finally, after a year's work and worry, came that long dreamed-of Prom! The theme, "Underwater Fantasy," proved to be a great success, despite the frantic last-minute preparations that go with all proms.

Phil Mabrey passes a Pepsi to a "sociable" spectator as Susie Fuller and Monty Reger prepare for another sale.

Mike Smith, president, asks of Joy Roehler, secretary, "What do you plan to put here?" while they plan a poster with the help of Allan Baker, treasurer; Mrs. Holdeman, sponsor; Mr. Mendenhall, sponsor; Steve Bennett, vice-president; and Mr. Bailey, sponsor.

The Sophomores, with two down and two to go, near the halfway mark of that magical goal—the fun-filled exciting final year. Proudly wearing their gray, white, and black sweaters, they found that life at P.H.S. as active members requires, among other things, trying to impress the underclassmen, keeping up with the upperclassmen, and maintaining high scholastic averages.

Planning ahead for that extra-special prom and exciting class trip, the class of 1963 began their money-making projects by holding a dance and serving supper after the tourney games. A car wash also added to their growing fund.

With the Sophomore members playing an important role in the field of sports, the class found 1960-1961 to be a successful year.

After much deliberation, they chose their class rings and are now eagerly awaiting their arrival.

"Mmm-good!" exclaims Mrs. Holdeman, while Jeanie Brown and Jackie Owens cut pies for the between-game festivities.

"Well, what's wrong with this date?" asks John Pike, president. Varying degrees of disapproval are registered by Mike Brattain, vice-president; Mrs. Wilken, sponsor; Mr. Berry, sponsor; Mrs. Eley, sponsor; Mr. Douthitt, sponsor; Susan Robertson, secretary; and Steve Ring, treasurer.

As Freshmen, the class of 1964 began their long hard climb to the summit with enthusiasm and gusto. Without money-making troubles they were able to relax and enjoy their class party.

Freshmen are eligible for varsity sports, and two made our illustrious cross country team. This year a Freshman basketball team was formed separately from the Junior High team. Many musical freshmen joined Chorus and blended their voices with those of other classes.

This spring they made their first big decision when they selected the class sweaters which will be worn with pride throughout their high school years.

"Baby-sitting Boogie" gives the beat to bouncing Freshman girls for their recreation on the stage at noon.

". . . and NO running in the halls," Mr. Miller explains firmly to Ted Mohr, president; Marsha Nelson, secretary; Kay Simmons, treasurer; Tim Craig, student council representative; and Roger McCarty, vice-president, as their sponsors, Mrs. Tice, Mr. Hinshaw, and Mr. Carey approve.

Entering high school for the first time last fall, the Eighth Grade faced the challenge of keeping P.H.S. on the move. Fine basketball and track teams instilled a lasting school spirit in these new high school students, while the Sunbeam Society gave the girls an opportunity to help others.

Play day in the spring provided a much needed break in the "grind" of school work and as the year drew to a close, the Eighth Grade felt a little more grown up and very proud of their part in high school life.

1886 or 1961 –

Teague's Toggery Shop and Wisehart Falls City Bakery, thriving businesses of years ago, who are seldom if ever heard of today, have been replaced by firms comparatively new to the Pendleton area. This gradual change, from what we were to what we are, has brought new faces, growth, and progress to the community.

Throughout the years these merchants have supported our Pendleton School System and enabled us to reach ever higher goals in education.

electrical energy for the needs of motion

From Kitty Hawk to Cape Canaveral in just 57 years. Quite a success story, and it isn't over yet. Some day soon man will conquer space itself—and when he does, electricity will play an essential role. For electricity is one of the main powers of progress.

That's where Delco-Remy research comes in. If continued progress is to be made in motion, consistent improvement must be made in the complex systems which create, transform, and control electricity. From Delco-Remy research will come such improved systems, reliable systems, to meet the needs of motion tomorrow.
